FOLD

by Tord Boontje

Our FOLD series by Tord Boontje differs fundamentally from traditional models in the way it innovatively blends the classic components of a door fitting – rosette, neck, and handle – into one single element. This is achieved thanks to an astute system with mounting akin to a bayonet system. The result is a door handle that appears to float elegantly on the door. The FOLD's single-piece handle is the first of its kind and the reason the design is considered a masterpiece – it came as no surprise when it received the Red Dot Design Award. The jury said that 'it is not only the technical concept of this door handle that is innovative, but also the implementation of the design down to the last ingenious detail.'
